

True/False Quiz: Elder Abuse and Neglect in Dementia Patients

Question 1: Dementia patients are at a lower risk of elder abuse than the general elderly population.

Question 2: Financial exploitation is a type of elder abuse.

Question 3: Caregiver stress and burnout are common risk factors for elder abuse.

Question 4: Unexplained bruises or fractures may indicate physical abuse.

Question 5: Emotional abuse does not include verbal insults or threats.

Question 6: Conducting unannounced visits to care facilities can help prevent elder abuse.

Question 7: Reporting suspected elder abuse to Adult Protective Services (APS) is a common legal requirement.

Question 8: Neglect includes the failure to provide basic needs such as food and shelter.

Question 9: Dementia-related aggression or resistance to care can increase the risk of abuse.

Question 10: Awareness campaigns and caregiver support are key strategies in preventing elder abuse.